90 million euros order entry substantiates successful business transformation

Steinmüller Engineering's new management

Gummersbach, 30.04.2025:

The task in the past fiscal year was to consolidate further the transformation of Steinmüller Engineering's business units that began in 2019. The transition from consultancy to long-running Engineering, Procurement and Construction (EPC) contracts has been a major challenge. None the less, our overall business development is very solid.

the new business structure focusses on projects shaping the energy transition, such as thermal energy storage for the process industry and fuel switch from coal to biomass, natural gas or hydrogen for the fossil energy generation. The transformation culminates in EPC contracts for sewage sludge incineration plants, such as in Hamburg and Stuttgart, and for flue gas cleaning equipment in accordance with the latest emission standards, such as in Helmstedt. It is the internationally recognised high level of competence of the Steinmüller team and the broad range of know-how that led to the highest volume of new orders in the company's history.

Accompanying the company's long-term planning, Dr Hans-Ulrich Thierbach handed over his duties as Managing Director to Dr Stefan Hamel, effective 1 April 2025. Dr Thierbach will remain with the company acting, among other responsibilities, as an advisor to the management. As Managing Director, Dr Hamel will be responsible for the company's engineering, sales and central functions.

In parallel, Mr. Yoshitomo Okuma handed over his duties to his regular successor in the Management Board – Mr. Koichi Hirayama – as of 1 April 2025. Mr. Hirayama is responsible for commercial operations, the branches in Morocco and South Africa, the Carbon Solutions Task Force, After Sales and Engineering & Consulting.
